What age can my child start social networking?

As a parent/carer it's important you know that all social networking platforms (apps) have age limits. Some social networks use technologies that mightn't be right for some ages, or engage with communities that are made up of people much older than your child.

What are the risks of an underage social networking account?

☑ Many sites include an instant message function which allows private conversations

☑ Most social networking sites have an app version, meaning your child will have access to the social network from their smartphone/tablet. Some app versions of social networks use the location of the phone.

☑ Information shared between friends can be easily copied and may spread

☑ It isn't easy to take back information that has been posted – and can be impossible if it's already been shared.

☑ Not everyone your child meets online will be who they say they are. Chatrooms and forums can connect people who are complete strangers and can be unmoderated

☑ Chatrooms and forums are one of the places online groomers go to connect with children. They can also be places where people use a lot of sexual language and engage in online flirting. This is sometimes done through video chat programs.

My child wants to share on social media. Should I be worried?

YouTube (along with other social media platforms) should NOT be used by those under the age of 14 due to the associated risks of comments on the videos they post and feedback from viewers which may not always be positive or appropriate.

As with all social media platforms, remind children that what they post online might stay around for a long time and be hard to remove and to bear in mind that embarrassing or controversial content might cause unnecessary stress or impact on education or job opportunities later in life.
